Time-Out with Pastor Rob

How do you really get to know someone? Do we simply go by what another person tells us about them? That can certainly be helpful, but if we truly want to know and understand someone, we have to spend time with them. We talk with them. We listen to them. We interact with them in different situations and environments. It's through that time together that a relationship begins to develop. Are you that intentional about your relationship with Christ? Do you seek Him when you first rise in the morning? Do you speak with Him throughout your day? Are you listening to the communication He provides through His Word? If we truly want to know Christ, we have to spend time with Him. Let's seek Him. Let's listen to Him. Let's spend more time with Him.
